4by5 - Demos that focus attention

 Show the color Point out the amazing color in our opening segment of the Sony Demo Blu-ray disc. Each successive section highlights red, blue then green. Point out the exceptional separation of color and rich reproduction.	 Play some music Show off the 20W of power combined with a Bass Reflex Box design to create a better sound from a slim design. Pick some MP3s with some strong bass and lots of instrumentation and turn the volume up.
 Find some noise Play back a clip of noisy SD footage on USB, high ISO camera video works great. Compare to a set without X-Reality PRO to see the exceptional noise reduction and image processing capabilities. This 3rd generation of X-Reality combines the previous 2 chips into a single chip for faster performance.	 3D or SimulView Active 3D for full 1080P resolution, double the resolution of most passive systems. Try a 3D Blu-ray or try a SimulView PS3 game for full screen multiplayer action.

Make sure you have everything you need to do these demos:
A USB with the sound clips and video you want to use is handy to give the customer the feeling they are getting a demo just for them.
Also make sure you have the Sony Demo Blu-ray material available and ready to show off TRILUMINOS.
As well, make sure you are hooked up to a PS3 or 3D Blu-ray so you can give a 3D demo if the customer is interested.
